

RAPID DEVELOPMENT SHOWN BY WEST LIMA

BUSINESS DISTRICT OF CITY IS EXPANDING WESTWARD

Only Few Years Since Flourishing District
Beyond Main-St Was Swamp With Few Buildings

THAT trite saying the wording of which has escaped us, but the sentiment of which might read: "Westward, oh westward, the star of the Empire takes its way," and the equal more American expression of the famous New York editor, "Go west, young man, and grow up with the country," are very applicable to what has been occurring in the Lima business district during the past ten years.

It has been only a few years since Jack Williams came up from opposite the C. H. & D. depot, and built the Manhattan Hotel. Previous to that there was nothing but a swamp surrounding the postoffice, dotted with shacks. Today a good business room in that locality rents for $3,000 a year.

It has been a far briefer period of time when there was nothing on West Wayne-st but air, tumbled down shacks and questionable residences. It will soon be built solidly from Main to Elizabeth. North-st ended at the Court House entrance and the Harper block stopped 100 feet from Main within the memory of almost all of us.

PROPERTY IS IN BIG DEMAND

John D. Rockefeller when he owned the Opera House block, couldn't keep the lower rooms filled with renters at much higher than office prices, and west of this were only two or three saloons. Today High-st from Main to West is one of the prosperous business sections of the city with no ground floor locations to be had. A fancy price was recently paid a grocery to move out of this section to give way to a shoe store.

The new half-million dollar hotel when it opens will enhance this section mightily, and send commercial business out to Pierce-st. High-st is one of the best speculative lots of real estate in the city and good for big advances over present prices as far out as Metcalf-st.

W. Market-st tells its own story and to McDonel will be built up in good season, all for commercial lines. Spring-st is still backward but the Y. M. C. A. at West-st forecasts development that far westward; and Elm-st is commercially set with business blocks on either corner of West-st.

SURPRISING DEVELOPMENT UNDER WAY

There will be surprising development of Elizabeth-st between the river and Wayne-st, and it will come and it has already started, so quickly and definitely that those who are not awake, will wonder how it was done. West-st may be slower, but is well within defined business territory.

Lima is no longer a ONE STREET TOWN, for in the sections named are firms doing $500,000 business a year. In this area could be cited some of the greatest mercantile houses of the city; the largest and next largest pure food distributors. In fact, every line of merchandise sold is already within the defined mentioned.

Main-st will always be as it is now, a thriving retail district. But Main-st cannot possibly house all the big commercial houses, and as the city grows in population, more and more will be the westward trend.

GLANCE SHOWS TREND OF BUSINESS

A glance at the kinds of business represented in this section is sufficient to tell its own story. New construction will be rapid when the price of labor and materials become normal. This may not be this year, but we are going to see it and when it comes, you will witness buildings such as the Argonne Hotel and the Savings Building and the great Blum store and the Ellerman and Harman blocks. This will come before it comes on Main-st, for old structures there command too high rentals to make new buildings a business proposition. So long as old buildings can be rented at high prices, owners will not raze them to give way to new.

Just a word about the dirt in this locality, bounded on the east by Main-st, on the west by Metcalf-st, on the south by the river and on the north by the Pennsylvania railroad. If you have idle funds, pick up as an investment anything your real estate broker can find for you inside these limits. Do it this spring, and forget all about the actual return on the investment, if it happens to have an old residence or business room on it now. Real estate you know is the basis of all wealth; real estate never runs away; real estate in a growing city never goes down, but persistently and seemingly without cause continues to go up, up, up. Buy a few feet of West Lima business dirt now!

SEARCH FOR GIRL IS FRUITLESS

Mystery of Disappearance of Trecia Petro Unsolved

MISSING FOR EIGHT WEEKS

Parents of Rockford Girl Refuse to Abandon Hope

Few cases wherein the disappearance of members of the human family from their homes and from among their friends have excited the interest that has grown about the incident of the dropping out of sight of Trecia Petro, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Petro, so mysteriously that the earth might well have opened and swallowed her.

Trecia, a pretty girl, resided with her parents, five and a half miles northeast of Rockford, in Mercer-co. She was happy and care-free, assisting in the work on the farm. Then came Floyd Humerickhouse, who won his way into her heart and attained her love. They were soon to be married.

MISSING TWO MONTHS

The evening of January 15, eight weeks ago, Humerickhouse called at the Petro home to accompany the girl to Rockford. That was the last time her parents looked upon her face. The girl's fiancé, a young farmer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Humerickhouse, near Rockford, returned at midnight to the Petro home and informed her parents that Trecia had disappeared from Rockford.

They separated for 20 minutes, he said, expecting to attend a picture show after Humerickhouse made some purchases at a store. When he returned to the place they were to meet, she was not there, he said. Humerickhouse visited a pool room after making his purchases, until the time he was to meet the girl. He searched all over the town for her. Humerickhouse told Trecia's parents, until midnight, and then started home to inform her parents. No one could be found who had seen the girl in Rockford that night. Absolutely nothing has been heard of her since.

For two months the distracted parents of the girl have done little or nothing save prosecute a search for her, running down every report or hint or clue that gives promise of locating her, but without success. Somebody told the Petro that a story had been published in a nearby newspaper that Trecia had been seen boarding a ship in New York harbor. Nothing of the kind had been printed, but the parents were not satisfied until they had proof to that effect. They are grabbing at every straw.

Lima police have a description of the girl and a diligent search has been made here, without success. Lack of a good photograph of the missing girl is a handicap. The parents have obtained a small kodak picture of her.

Trecia Ethel Petro, aged 16, is five feet six inches in height, weight 120 pounds, bluish grey eyes, fair complexion, light brown hair, has gold tooth crown on left upper side, three white fillings in front teeth. She walks with a slight stoop, has chicken pox scar in middle of forehead near the edge of the hair and two scars on one of her eyebrows.

When she disappeared, the girl wore a black tam with pink crown, dark cloth coat with plush collar and cloth belt, dark brown stockings and shoes with white soles.

SEARCH IS UNREMITTING

"We have done nothing during the past eight weeks but look for our daughter," Oliver Petro said Friday. "Our only other child, Arvilla, an 18-year-old boy, has been doing the farm work, looking after our oil leases and helping in the search whenever he has time."

All streams in the vicinity of Rockford were draged, the parents fearing that she may have succumbed. Description of the girl has been sent all over the country. No tidings have been received.

Humerickhouse sticks to his first story of the disappearance of the girl, maintaining that he knows nothing of her whereabouts.

The parents, sad eyed and their faces sorrow furrowed, hope against hope as days and weeks and months pass. They haven't given up the search but are losing heart as their efforts to locate their daughter continue barren of results.

Good Sir!

Easter is but a short way distant. (Just two weeks to day to be exact). What are you going to do about that new Easter Suit and Spring Coat? Are you going to wait until the eleventh hour and fifty-ninth minute, and then rush about regretfully and feverishly taking whatever you can find in a "near size" and "near style and color?" Or will you come now, make your choice from these many handsome models and colors—Have your own taste and preference fitted to your figure?

Wraps

In striking contrast to the demure simplicity of frocks is the luxuriousness of the new spring wraps.

We noticed a very good-looking navy tricotine wrap heavily embroidered in copen, black and gold metal thread, and lined throughout with navy pussywillow, for $65.00.

Another wrap of silvertone was in that beautiful new shade called caramel, and lined with silver grey satin, at $45.00.

Other wraps ranging in price from $25.00 to $125.00.

—Third Floor

Vestees

To the tailored suit, a snowy vest and Dutch collar of crisp organdy is a detail both smart and becoming. You will find these at the neckwear counter priced at $1.98—and they are hand embroidered with dots in either copen or jade.

If just collar and cuffs are wanted, and a bit of color besides, we have sets of organdy in lavender, buff, burnt orange and grey, which are edged with ruffles picoted in black and have an outline of black dots—priced at $3.00 the set. (A suggestion — with a navy tulleur, and hat, gloves and slippers of grey, one of these grey sets would be very effective, don't you think?)

—First Floor

Suits

Never have such delightfully novel effects been introduced in women's suits—everything conspiring to make them more rich and beautiful than ever — sumptuous embroideries, lustrous fabrics, and daringly original lines.

They are very moderately priced, too. There is a navy tricotine in box coat style, which has a "V" design of inch wide silk braid and gold embroidery around the bottom of the jacket, the sleeves and the collar—very smart effect—priced at $45.00.

Another navy tricotine has a ripple style jacket embroidered with iridescent beads—this is $65.

Others are elaborately embroidered in colors and have sashes in vivid colorings—priced up to $195.00.

We have some unusually good suits in serge for $25.00 and a large assortment of models for $45.00.

—Third Floor

Gloves

Gloves form so conspicuous a part of any costume that much care must be given to their selection.

This spring the style are so captivatingly feminine—they are just full of unexpected little frills and caprices that heretofore gloves have never thought of assuming.

Mousquetaires are still leading in both twelve and sixteen button lengths. In black, white, grey, suede and mastic, the twelve button style in kid is $7.00, in silk, $1.50—the sixteen button in kid is $8.50 and in silk, from $1.75 to $3.00.

Planning Ahead For Easter

Two weeks from today is Easter—that most joyous of festivals that heralds in the Springtime with all its beauty and verdant loveliness.

On that day woman tries to rival nature itself in the sparkling freshness and glory of her apparel.

And for this costume which she has been planning during the cold and cloudy days of Winter, she will find here every requisite. At prices, too, agreeably moderate considering the exclusiveness of style and the beauty of quality and workmanship.

The House of Bluem bids you welcome to view everything that fashion has prescribed for the adornment of woman this coming Easter.

The House of Bluem

Frocks

Quaint and winsome or gay and dashing are the frocks for spring. Frocks with frills and turbelows for youthful flippancy or of rich, clinging fabrics to interpret regal simplicity.

One we thought was especially fetching is of black taffeta with an underskirt of jade crepe de Chine. The waist is made in basque style and the tunic, which hangs to the bottom of the skirt, is solid tucking. Around the neck and down the sides of the tunic are little pear-shaped inserts of the jade crepe de Chine finished with tiny bows of black satin ribbon. It's a love of a dress and would be charming on a girl who is just a little bit inclined to be plump—$75.00.

Another that caught our eye is of grey Canton crepe made on straight, graceful lines, with a full gathered skirt. The waist is a basque and has no decoration but its fichu collar lined with henna georgette, and the little crocheted flowers of henna silk that take the place of buttons down the front—these same little flowers are scattered here and there over the skirt. The sleeves which are short, of course, are lined with henna georgette and tied with ribbons of the same shade. This one is priced at $48.50.

—Third Floor

Veils

Invariably, smartly gowned women wear veils. It's a cultivated habit because they know the veil is the finishing touch to any costume—they realize its enhancing qualities. All women like to be considered smartly dressed but many of them wear an occasional veil merely to be stylish.

If you do not already have the veil habit, visit our veiling counter and be convinced how much one will really improve and add to your appearance. One piece in particular would be quite bewitching with a henna hat—on a dark brown ground of rather large mesh are chenille dots of henna and jade—85c a yard.

—First Floor

Blouses

A new blouse with a new suit—to add that feeling of well-dressed completeness that "everything new" imparts.

New fashions are constantly arriving at our Blouse Shop on the Third Floor—always interesting, heavily beaded or with trimmings of yarn—ing. Hand-made crepe de Chines and georgettes, gorgeous in coloring and so unique in design that they entirely escape the commonplace.

The smartest blouse we have seen is fashioned of jade crepe de Chine with a three tier collar and cuffs of buff, marigold and burnt orange organdy picoted in jade, while at the waist line in front are inserts of organdy in marigold, burnt orange and grey, outlined in wool embroidery—$9.75.

Then there are demure little blouses of tricolette which are scalloped around the bottom and have dutch collar and cuffs of linen. These come in henna, grey and navy and are excellent for all around, everyday wear—only $5.98.

—Third Floor

Hosiery

Slippers are so beautiful this Spring that more thought than ever must be given to hosiery.

Whether you prefer plain silk or gossamer webbed lace stockings, our hosiery department can satisfy every whim.

On special sale this week are pure thread silk hose, full fashioned, in black, brown, navy, suede and white at $1.80—these are an exceptionally good, heavy quality.

Have you noticed the new mercerized lisle hose in lace designs that are so popular at present? They come in black and brown, look just like silk, wear like iron, and are only $1.75 a pair.

—Third Floor

Lingerie Must Be In Keeping With the Rest of the Costume

Never before have women been so particular about what they wear underneath. They cannot feel really dressed up without new and dainty underthings, which are to be found in great profusion in our Lingerie Shop.

Among other arrivals for spring are step-ins of heavy pink crepe de Chine, which are edged with lace and have a clever little pocket of georgette and lace on either side to hold one's powder puff. These are priced at $5.50.

A turquoise blue georgette combination has a top of tiny tucks forming large checks and is edged with fine Valenciennes lace and trimmed with pink ribbon—$7.75. The step-ins to match are $5.50.

BRINGS SUIT FOR $2,000 DAMAGES

Cleveland Man Humiliated by W. O. Conductor, Claim

IS ARRESTED AND JAILED

Falsely Accused of Not Paying Fare, He Avers

Damages in the sum of $2,000 are asked by Peter Paulus, Bluffton, representative of the Central Petroleum company, Cleveland, in a suit filed against the Western Ohio Railroad company in common pleas court Saturday.

Paulus charges that because the conductor of an interurban car on which he was riding to Lima from Bluffton disputed he had given him his fare, he was arrested and confined in the Lima police station for half an hour, after the conductor had endeavored to forcibly eject him from the car.

Paulus says his veracity and his reputation has been damaged to the amount he seeks. He declares he was much humiliated by being taken thru the public square of Lima from the Western Ohio station by two patrolmen and by being confined in the city prison.

BOUGHT TICKET, CLAIMS
The petition sets forth Paulus purchased a ticket from Bluffton to Lima on February 12, last. The interurban car which he boarded stopped at Beaverdam. When the conductor began the collection of fares after leaving Beaverdam, he asked Paulus for his ticket.

Paulus told him he had purchased a ticket at Bluffton and had boarded the car there and had given him the fare.

Whereupon, averments are, the conductor became loud and abusive in his statements, declaring Paulus had not purchased and given him a ticket. It is stated. He ordered him to pay his fare or be ejected from the car. Paulus declares, ringing the bell at the same time to stop the car and trying to put him off.

Paulus says that when he refused to leave the car the conductor telephoned the agent at Lima to have patrolmen meet the car and arrest Paulus. He tried to leave the car at the Pennsylvania tracks but the conductor dragged and shoved him back. It is charged.

ARRESTED WITHOUT WARRANT
He says his arrest was consummated without a warrant and he was held in prison for half an hour before being released. Paulus says, as traveling representative for the Cleveland company in Allen and Hancock cos. he is widely known in Lima and throughout his territory. He relates he frequently travels on interurban cars and because of patronage and citizens in his territory who heard the conversation and remarks of the conductor he has been very greatly damaged.

The Golden Rule is not only good ethics—it is good business

YES SIR! Success in our line isn't something we can grab—we must build it. We aim to prosper right here in this community of people who drive motor cars. We need their good-will. We don't try to unload a new battery onto any man who comes in here with a lame one.

No Sir! We give our patrons exactly the kind of service they would want if they could know batteries inside and out as we do. That's the way we build up their good-will."

There's no need to assume that your battery is worn out just because it has begun to fail. It will take us just a few minutes to open your battery up. Then you can see the insides for yourself. You can see how the plates look—and the separators. The plates are the vital parts. If they are sound enough to warrant a repair, and it is an economical investment for you, we will repair the battery. We'll make it as energetic as ever and insist on just one thing, and that is to give you an adjustment guarantee of 8 months more battery vigor.

But the day will finally come when you will know that your battery has lasted just as long as the best battery skill can make it last. Then, and not before, will we sell you a USL Battery—the one with the durable, Machine-Pasted Plates.

USL Batteries come to us "Dry-Charged." That means that you get a battery that is as new and fresh as it was the day it left the factory. There is no wear, no before-sales deterioration, so you are assured of the full battery life.

We are a Golden Rule Service Station. We want you to know what Golden Rule Service means. Come any time—come often—we are here to serve you.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

VIEWED as a banker views the business horizon, there was nothing optimistic in the week just closed, but much that can be classed as pessimistic. On the contrary, viewed as the political economist would view it, the past week has been ultra optimistic, in that it points to a final clearing of the benighted commercial skies. The difference in viewpoint is because a financier never likes to see things go backwards; he is always and ever a bull, for he is doing business into the future, lending his money on things that are yet to mature. The economist, on the contrary, views conditions only for the ultimate good of the great mass of people and of countries.

If we have thought we were in a period of deflation, it required the week's basic markets to tell us that there was one more big final plunge. Wheat dropped five cents the bushel without a quiver; high-grade railroad stocks tumbled so rapidly that the tape couldn't keep up with the changes, and there was a million-share day in Wall street.

Yet the economist would say, that is just what the country and the world needs. We have been building our financial structures on the sands and the law of supply and demand is the water which is sweeping them away. Sweeping only the inflation, not the substantial.

There is a happier side, and it comes when we remember that it is only 15, or at most, 20 percent, that spells the difference between "good" and so-called "bad" times. There will be eighty percent of our 120,000,000 people working during hard times, while 20 percent will be idle. There will be shifting of work, long needed to be done, but too trivial or mental, to command attention in prosperous times. Labor of all kinds will drift from one line into another, and few people will be in absolute want. Thousands will become more thrifty, trade will be on a reduced volume, but there will be trade.

Our national problems will be solved, or minimized; the orgy of governmental extravagance must end; and you can't collect taxes in hard times, for there are none to collect. People will buy homes and furniture and clothing and even luxuries. Thousands of salaried people will acquire what has been denied them during the war period; things will get back, not to 1916 but to the 1913 basis, thru sheer logic and under the inexorable law of demand and supply.

Lima is still the best little city in Ohio. Her bank clearings were the highest of the new year period; her pay-rolls, while smaller in two of our three largest industries, were nevertheless goodly pay-rolls. Her hundred or more small concerns continue to run around capacity; her cigar industry and her refining plant, one of her railway shops and all of her office clerical and professional personnel are going at normal. She is sturdy and strong, virile with latent energy and needing much of the displaced labor which will go on the open market.

Deflation is a healthy factor, rather than a deterrent. It will hurt some of us keenly; some of us will quit our present games, but to those who will fight there will be smiles and miles of smiles during 1921, for "It's a great old world if you don't weaken." But—save and deposit ten percent of your pay-envelopes every week. Don't overlook this preventative.

GAG RULE IN WASHINGTON?

MEMBERS of the new cabinet have established what some Washington correspondents term gag rule. This serious charge comes with the official national family only a few days old, in fact before they had a chance to get their seats warm.

Secretary of State Hughes called the scribes together and laid down the law after the published statement that an official ultimatum had been sent to the two small southern countries threatening war. He made his desires clear and said there must not be a second offense.

Attorney General Daugherty has put the official clamps on news from his department, announcing that only that which he authorizes may be given out for publication and that attaches of his office must not discuss or release any news without his sanction.

These two instances together with the resolution in the house of representatives barring writers from the speakers' lobby and the decision of the senate closing the marble room to them have caused a feeling among some of the correspondents at least that the gag is being systematically applied.

It would be unfortunate for this condition to develop for executives of this country long have realized the importance of the great newspaper system of the nation. The extent to which this institution has been respected is clearly demonstrated by that noted statesman, Theodore Roosevelt, who was always good for "copy."

When Roosevelt desired to feel the pulse of the country on some big matter in his mind he would let it be known to the newspaper men that this or that was being considered. The news would be carried to the far corners of the country and the results noted. If there was a general warming up to the plan, it was put into effect. If there was general opposition something else was done, but the news writers were on the inside of the "big stuff."

The people want to know what their government is doing and a censorship by any or all departments at Washington should and will be vigorously opposed.

A PARTY IS ON TRIAL

CRITICAL eyes of Ohio folks that have been focused on legislative and executive doings down at Columbus since Governor Harry L. Davis and an entirely Republican administration, with big majorities in the senate and house came into power, are now turning occasionally toward Washington, where bigger game is being stalked.

Since the Governor's ripper bill has been plugged to the extent of the elimination of the emergency clause, which will afford the rank and file of the people of Ohio an opportunity to see and study it to determine just what the executive plans are for reorganization and reject it by referendum if they see fit, there has been a bit of easier breathing and hearts are not so much aflutter with fear over possible consequences of the Governor being elevated to a position little short of a czar.

Despite the fact that the G. O. P. is in control almost everywhere in the state, along important lines and also in spite of the fact that there is a tendency in some quarters to run "hog wild," heads that are more calm and cool are wagging in disapproval and the wild ones are pausing to look the thing over, remembering that the electors of the state are quick to punish infractions of what they deem common sense and popular usage. There are other elections to come and being in, the adherents of the party would naturally like to stay in. Realizing that foolishness is the best route for getting out, the tendency in that direction may be somewhat restricted.

Not all the criticism of legislative and executive procedure in Columbus is being voiced from outside the party in power. Much of it comes from the Republican ranks. That's the thing that scares the gully ones the worst. They expect criticism from the enemy, but when their friends join in the chorus, the situation is freighted with augmented danger.

Bills, bills, nothing but bills in the legislative hopper and the Governor has been so busy trying to explain his reorganization bill that he hasn't had time to hog tie some of the single-track, narrow-gauged folks who apparently feel that the legislature was designed wholly and solely as a vehicle for the riding of their pet hobby. Big problems are up for solution in Columbus and Washington. It's no time for foolishness, quibbling or evasion. To make good, the state and national administrations must do things that are constructive, progressive and expense lessening.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., got considerable publicity when he paid $100 for his lunch. Had it been in some restaurants we know of, there would have been nothing unusual about it.

Women who shoot their husbands and lovers don't seem to bother about getting a license or looking up the law to see if it is an open season.

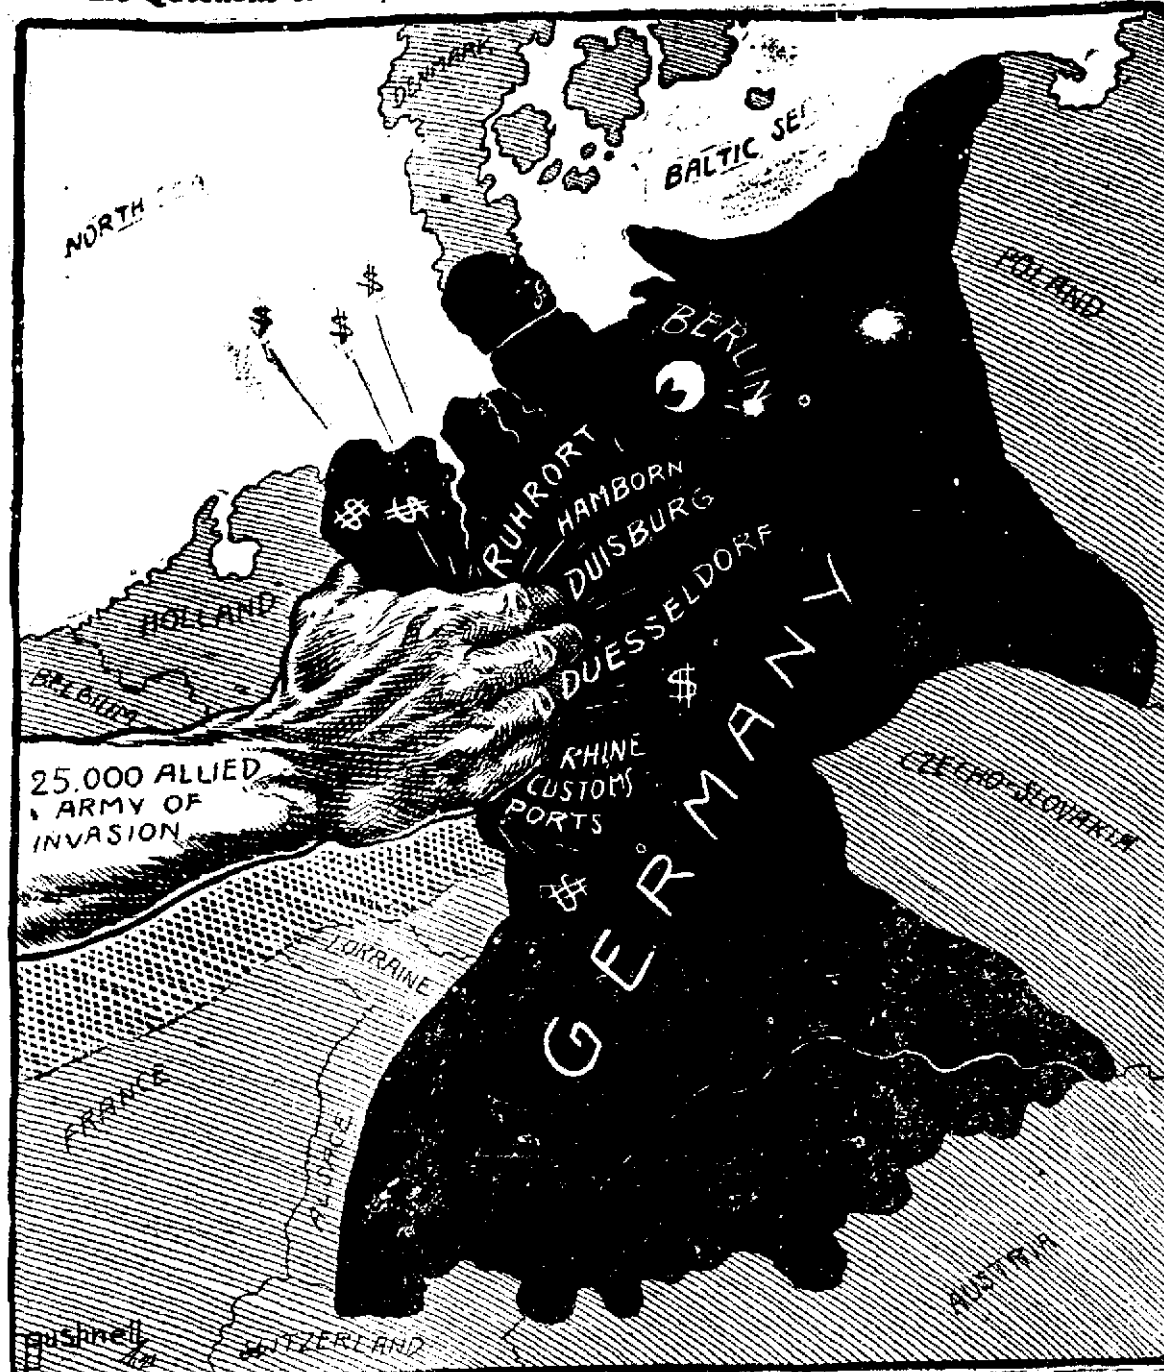

We have been wondering whether, now that the packers have cut wages, Lima consumers may expect some choice cuts.

The Spring tonic business will break all records if the "run downs" are allowed to have real beer.

The watch on the Rhine now seems to be saying "Give or Take," "Give or Take."

Reports indicate that this has been a hard winter on the best cellars in Lima.

WHAT COUNTS

Don't care much what a man can do,
Or if his mind works faster than The common mind of the common man,
But I like to know him thru an' thru,
An' how to the tests of life he's stood
For it counts with me if his word is good.
I'll ask no brother how much he owns,
Nor whether his blood is an an-

Or is he one of the common flock.
Leave pedigree to the flesh and

He can be my friend both day an'

Whatever he is if his heart is

TODAY'S HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.

FIVE SUBJECTS

Dear Dr. Brady:
We have been discussing the amount of sleep necessary for children. I am a girl sixteen years old, a junior in high school, carrying five subjects. School commences at 8:25 a. m. and is dismissed at 2:35 p. m. We have half an hour recess for lunch.
Since we live 2-1/2 miles from school I take a car mornings, but I usually walk home. I am carrying five subjects, and for me Clever and Physics are especially hard. I have only one study period a day, except two days a week when I have two study periods. From this you can form an idea of how much home-work I have and how much time it takes to do it.
I generally manage to crawl into bed by 10:30, and I get up at 7:15 in the morning.
But the trouble is that every night about 11:00, sister comes to bed, turning on the light and fussing around the way they do at that age, you know, and by the time she is set to hit the hay I am wide awake again.
I have missed school several times this past term on account of sore throats, bad colds, whatever you call them—and laryngitis. The doctor asks every time if I am working pretty hard, and he tells mother I seem tired out, and that accounts for susceptibility.
But the folks don't understand. Mother says when she was a girl SHE could sleep on anything at any time.
Please tell me whether I am getting sufficient sleep. I hate to cause trouble about things, tho I do like to feel fresh and fit.
Sincerely yours,
If any girl is capable of carrying five subjects in high school, which I doubt, subject number five ought to be day would be devoted to the conservation of your health and the preparation for your future usefulness to yourself and the world. Nor would any highbrow schoolman emanating from the old maid schoolma'am be of any avail.

Homework? Bless you, child, dump the books behind the hallrack when you come in and pick them up when you start for school in the morning. School books have no business following girls home nights.

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT

This is a lucky day:
A new novlist of great power will come into the public eye during the coming year.
The stars are favorable for writers and editors.
There will be a strong tendency to speculate during the spring; this should be avoided, as it is likely to lead to disaster, especially if concerned with industries involving new mineral discoveries.
Persons whose birthday this is will have a successful year, but should heed the stars' warning that accidents resulting from the driving of motor cars are likely to occur in their lives.
Children born today are likely to be extremely successful. The girls will have great charm.

And all the world is lost in sleep,
I feel the light touch of your hand,
And know you still love's vigil keep.

THE PARADISE MYSTRERY

By J. S. FLETCHER

Mary dropped her work and turned a pair of astonished eyes on Mrs. Folliott's large countenance. "You!" she exclaimed. "To establish—Doctor Ransford's innocence? Why Mrs. Folliott, what have you done?"

Mrs. Folliott toyed a little with the jeweled head of her sunshade. Her expression became almost coy. "Oh, well!" she answered after a brief spell of indision. "Perhaps it is as well that you should know. Miss Bowers. Of course, when all this sad trouble was made far worse by that second affair—the workman's death, you know, I said to my husband that really one must do something, seeing that Doctor Ransford was so very, very old and that he wouldn't speak. And as money is nothing—at least as things go—to me or to Mr. Folliott, I insisted that he should offer a thousand pounds toward it. 'I've the thing cleared up,' he said, 'and open-handed man, and he agreed with me out of his pocket, and put the thing in his hands. And nothing would please me more, my dear, than to have that thousand pounds cleared up. For, of course, if there is to be a union between our families, it would be utterly impossible that any cloud could rest on Doctor Ransford's name. It is only your guardian. My son's future wife cannot, of course—'

Mary laid down her work again and for a full minute stared Mrs. Folliott in the face.

"Mrs. Folliott," she said at last. "Are you under the impression that I'm thinking of marrying your son?"

"I think I've every good reason for believing it," replied Mrs. Folliott.

"You've none!" retorted Mary, gathering up her work and moving toward the door. "I've no more intention of marrying Mr. Jackville Bonham than of eloping with the bishop! The idea's too absurd to—"

Five minutes later Mrs. Folliott, heightened in color, had gone. And presently Mary, glancing after her across the close, saw Bryce approaching the gate of the garden.

"Mary's first instinct on seeing the approach of Pemberton Bryce, the one man she least desired to see, was to retreat to the back of the house and send the parlormaid to the door to say her mistress was not at home. But she had lately become aware of Bryce's curious dogged persistence in following up whatever he had in view, and she reflected that if he were sent away then he would be sure to come back and come back until he had got whatever it was that he wanted. And after a moment's further consideration, she walked out of the front door and confronted him resolutely in the parlor.

"Doctor Ransford is away," she said with almost unnecessary brusqueness. "He's away until evening."

"I don't want him," replied Bryce just as brusquely. "I came to see you."

Mary hesitated. She continued to regard Bryce steadily, and Bryce did not like the way in which she was looking at him. He made haste to speak before she could either leave or dismiss him.

"You'd better give me a few minutes," he said, with a note of warning. "I'm here in your interests—or in Ransford's. I may as well tell you, straight out, Ransford's in serious and imminent danger! That's a fact."

"Danger of what?" she demanded.

"Arrest—imminent arrest!" replied Bryce. "I'm telling you the truth. He'll probably be arrested tonight, on his return. There's no imagination in all this—I'm speaking of what I know. I'm—curiously enough—got mixed up with these affairs, thru no seeking of my own, and I know what's behind the scenes. If it were known that I'm letting out secrets to you, I should get into trouble. But, I want to warn you."

Mary stood before him on the path, hesitating. She knew enough to know that Bryce was telling some sort of truth; it was plain that he had been mixed up in the recent mysteries, and there was a ring of conviction in his voice which impressed her. And suddenly she had visions of Ransford's arrest, of his being dragged off to prison to meet a cruel accusation, of the shame and disgrace, and she hesitated further.

"But if that's so," she said at last, "what's the good of coming to me? I can't do anything."

"I can!" said Bryce significantly. "I know more—much more—than the police know—more than anybody knows. I can save Ransford. Understand that?"

"What do you want—now?" she asked.

"To talk to you—to tell you how things are," answered Bryce. "What I want is there in that. To make you see how matters stand, and then to show you what I can do to put things right."

Mary glanced at an open summer-house which stood beneath the beech trees on one side of the garden. She moved toward it and sat down there, and Bryce followed her and seated herself.

"Well?" she said.

Bryce realized that his moment had arrived. He paused, endeavoring to remember the careful preparations he had made for putting his case. Somehow, he was not so clear as to his line of attack as he had been ten minutes previously—he realized that he had to deal with a young woman who was not likely to be taken in nor easily deceived. And suddenly he plunged into what he felt to be the thicket of things.

"Whether you, or whether Ransford—whether both or either of you, know it or not," he said, "the police have been on to Ransford ever since that Colishaw affair. Underground work, you know. 'Hitchington has been digging into things ever since then, and lately he's had a London detective helping him.'"

Mary, who had carried her work into the garden, had now resumed it, and as Bryce began to talk she bent over it steadily stitching.

"Well?" she said.

"Look here!" continued Bryce. "Has it never struck you—it must have done—that there's considerable mystery about Ransford? But whether it has struck you or not, it's there, and it's struck the police forcibly. Mystery connected with him before—long before—he ever came here. And associated, in some way, with that man Braden. Not of late—in years past. And, naturally, the police have tried to find out what that was."

"What have they found out?" asked Mary quietly.

"That I'm not at liberty to tell," replied Bryce. "But I can tell you this—they know, Hitchington and the London man, that there were passages between Ransford and Braden years ago."

"How many years ago?" interrupted Mary.

Bryce hesitated a moment. He had a suspicion that this self-possessed young woman, who was taking everything more quietly than he had anticipated, might possibly know more than he gave her credit for knowing. He had been watching her fingers since they sat down in the summer-house, and his sharp eyes saw that they were as steady as the spire of the cathedral above the trees, and knew from that she was really as steady as a rock.

"Oh, well—seventeen to twenty years," he answered. "About that time. There were passages, I say, and they were of a nature which suggests that the reappearance of Braden on Ransford's present stage, he would be extremely unpleasant and unwelcome to Ransford."

"And?" murmured Mary. "Extremely what?"

"But quite enough," retorted Bryce, "to give the police the suggestion of motive. I tell you the police know quite enough to know that Braden was of all men in the world, the last man Ransford desired to see cross his path again. And—on that morning on which the Paradise affair occurred—Braden did cross his path. Therefore, in the conventional police way of thinking and looking at things, there's motive."

"Motive for what?" asked Mary.

Bryce arrived here at one of his critical stages, and he paused a moment in order to choose his words.

"Don't get any false ideas or—" essions," he said at last. "I'm not accusing Ransford of anything. I'm only telling you what I know. The police think and—on the very edge of accusing him of. To put it plainly—of murder. They say he'd a motive for murdering Braden—and with them motive is everything. It's the first thing they seem to think of; the first question they ask themselves. 'Why should this man have murdered that man?' do you see? 'What motive had he?'—that's the point. And they think—these chaps like Hitchington and the London man—that Ransford certainly had several times to look up at the semi dawn-lit sky, and to dawdle on the deserted streets, for the sheer thrill of realizing that they were so delightful empty, as she explained to Fedya.

Why You Should Buy Your Own Home

Why Buying Now Means Money - Making

OVER this country from ocean to ocean and from Gulf to Lakes there is an insistent cry for homes. People wonder why it is so very hard to find a place to rent, and why rents have advanced for the same identical properties. The condition is not psychological, but due to and solely to the inviolable law of Supply and Demand.

Since 1917, and in a slight degree previous to that time, there has been little home building in cities. The war ended individual endeavor and substituted governmental. Likewise, the withdrawal of governmental buying has now made manufacturers and made us all depend upon individual buying.

New construction went into army cantonments, shipyards, factory extensions for two years. While people "doubled up" and for a time 2,000,000 of them were in camp or field, and as many "homes" were not needed. Wives and children doubled up with parents; parents with children. But the past two years have brought the boys back from camp, back from field and wave. Those who had "doubled" wanted to return to their own firesides. Renters bid against themselves for the same properties, and owners, who are only human, accepted the highest bid. Now there are not enough homes to go 'round.

Owning your own home is a money-making proposition for you in at least two ways — It saves you many dollars thru the cost of not moving; it saves you many other dollars in your actual furnishings, for every "move" means new furniture, new fittings, new things never considered, but actually bought sooner or later.

DO NOT BE AFRAID OF RESPONSIBILITY WHEN YOU ARE YOUNG.

Owning your own home gives you better standing among business men and a much higher standing with yourself. You own something, you have a roof for your babies and their mother; you are a worth-while citizen. You hold yourself better, you are better in health because of the knowledge that there is a place in this world for you.

The greatest fortunes in the world have not been made in stocks or bonds or in commercial business. Land, real estate, is the basis of all true wealth, because as the country grows older each bit of real estate becomes more valuable. That is just the reason why you should buy your home now.

There is only so much real estate within any given area. Homes that are now built are within that area; to build considerable more homes, requires that you add additions, which must come on the outskirts of the city. The bulk of all new homes to be built in Lima the next ten years will be built in sections not now within the corporate limits. If you buy a home now that is within definite districts, you will have inside property ten years hence, and the advance in real estate alone will make you a nice, tidy sum for which you will not have worked a single moment.

Lima is destined to be a city of 100,000. When business starts going again, Lima will jump 20,000 in population almost over night. That means a third more people; and where will they live? On, on out farther, while your house will be well within town. It will not be surprising if within ten years you will see west Lima built up solidly to the Children's home. On the south side it will spread over the Linneman farm now the south boundary of the newest industrial district. North Lima will build steadily out to the State Hospital. Buying now will mean that you will benefit from these as yet unbuilt sections, because your home will be inside them. If you pay $6,000 for a home of your own today it is almost a sure thing that you will be offered $8,000 for it within ten years from now. In the meantime you have enjoyed it, payments have not been as much as rent, never are after the first two years. Buy a home now and you will not only never regret it, but will always thank the man for making you do it.

Real Estate In Lima Is 20% to 40% Lower Than In Any Other City In the Country of Corresponding Size

CARTER & CARROLI

I HAVE GOT THEM ALL BUT ONE!

And He Has Too Much Rich Red Blood For Me

Says the Vampire of iron-starvation—don't let him get you—keep plenty of iron in your blood.

Look at the pale, thin, watery blooded creatures in this picture—see how they are struggling, trying to get away from the merciless vampire of iron-starvation which holds them tight by a stout, cruel cord they cannot see.

Their lack of BODILY AND MENTAL VIGOR; their inability to do a day's work without being all fagged out; their bad luck; LACK OF BRAIN POWER to think right and the WILL POWER to battle against obstacles, their frequent headaches, backaches, nervous irritability and the great debilitating weakness brought on by lack of iron in the blood tells them something is wrong BUT THEY DO NOT KNOW WHAT.

They all envy the strong, keen, red blooded man with plenty of iron in his blood, who, in spite of "hard times" or other obstacles has the "dominant force" "will power," physical and mental strength to enable him to GO OUT AND WIN and BRING HOME THE "CASH" while they lag in vain to break the bonds that hold them fast.

If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test. See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Thousands of nervous, rundown men and women who were weak and ailing all at once have surprisingly increased their strength and endurance in two weeks' time in many instances, by this simple experiment.

Over 4,000,000 people annually are using NUXATED IRON. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturer if you do not obtain satisfactory results. Beware of substitutes. Always insist on having genuine organic iron—NUXATED IRON. Look for the letters N. I. on every tablet. At all druggists.

Which Man in This Picture is YOU?

The strong, keen, red blooded, successful man who laughs at the vampire of iron-starvation or ARE YOU one of the poor unfortunate persons who have been caught by this merciless wrecker of human health—if the latter, NUXATED IRON will help set you free and make you a strong, healthy, robust, successful man.

SNAPPY STYLE IN SPRING SUITS

Designs Will Be More Conservative Dealers Declare

VIEWS ON ALL FURNISHINGS

Well Dressed Man May Get Many Ideas Here

More conservative styles and designs will predominate in spring suits and wearing apparel for men, young men and boys this spring and summer.

Such is the opinion expressed Saturday by Lima men who are in close touch with the clothing trade.

Buyers will find clothing from 25 to 30 per cent cheaper this spring than they did last, with the quality of the goods much better. Old fabrics are again available, after being missed from suits for several years on account of being used for the manufacture of war necessities.

Belted coats are a thing of the past, and with other "extras" are fast disappearing. Patch pockets seem to maintain their popularity, but the plain pocket with a flap will be the positive style.

Single and double breasted coats are both popular and will share honors for the dominant style.

SHIRTS PLAIN

Well-dressed men will welcome the advice that spring shirts are going to be plainer. Plain colors are being displayed, mostly in madras and lineas. A white shirt with a low collar attached, made of plain handkerchief linen, is leading spring styles.

Brightly colored shirts, of any material, are out of style.

That's the general opinion of haberdashers.

Mothers will be delighted to find that boy's clothing is more neat this year, with prices cut in accordance with the drop noticeable in men's wear.

All of the youngster's suits will be belted. Little wash suits are being displayed by clothiers, with French imported styles in two-piece and one-piece suits. Hats of tweed to match are being shown.

Here's what Lima's dealers say: MEN'S AND YOUNG MEN'S SUITS. Max Falk, assistant manager of Ellerman's clothing store: "Prices on spring suits are going to be from 25 to 30 per cent lower than they were last year. The quality of suits is going to be much better, due chiefly to the fact that old fabrics are again on the market and are being used in the manufacture of men's suits."

"More conservative styles will predominate, that's sure. Both single and double breasted suits will be good. Plain colors, chiefly

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW defines a gentleman as one who puts into life more than he takes out of it. That definition also fits The Well-Dressed Man. He puts into the selection of his clothes thoughtful care. He takes out of them the silent approval that his Inner Self bestows upon his Outer Self. To be conspicuously well-dressed without being dressed conspicuously; to attract attention by seeming to avoid it; to shun that kind of "originality", which, overstepping the bounds, betrays the boulder—that is the secret of making the most of one's appearance.

The 3-button top coat, illustrated above, introduces those straighter, squarer body-lines which are prominent characteristics of this season's fashions. The front buttons are far apart, instead of being close together, as formerly. The side pockets and the change pocket are of the patch type.

Putting a pint-size hat upon a quart-size head is going to be a problem this season, when soft hats are small-crowned and snug-brimmed, as portrayed in the accompanying sketch. The color is brown in shades of an "mocha". However, a well-established soft hat with a well-established too, is a shade called Who says that a last leg? Quite different are as spruce as a cloth or with 4 buttons. brown and blue, with pin checks and stripes, will predominate.

"Belts and waist seams to coats are no good this spring. They are out of style completely. The style of coat pockets varies. Plain pockets with flaps and patch pockets seems to be the most popular. The plainer they are the better they take. "All trousers will have cuffs this year. The rage last year of cuffless trousers has blown over."

BOYS' CLOTHING

O. G. Place, manager of boys' department at Michael's: "Suits for boys this spring will be featured by 2-pant suits, with fancy, pleated, model coats. In woolen suits there will be a combination of colors, with waists and pants in imported French models. "Hats to match will go with most every suit. They will be made of tweed cloth. Caps will also be worn to a big extent. "All boys' suits will be belted, and the wearer of a smart spring top coat will be popular. "Jersey middie and 1-piece suits for smaller boys will be worn to a big extent this spring."

MEN'S SHIRTS.

Jim Jolley of Jolley-Chenoweth: "Soft negligee shirts with collars attached are to be featured in spring styles. Many plain white madras shirts are to be worn with solid black ties. "Silk shirts will be worn to some extent, but not as extensively as they were last year. The colors are 'tamed,' and the patterns are more modest. "The handkerchief linen shirt is going to be worn very extensively, rag attached."

GLOVES AND HOSIERY

Carl Isham, advertising manager of Morris Bros.: "Silk gloves with plain patterns are going to be worn very extensively this spring. Grey gloves with a black back are proving popular here. There is no big change in designs from last year. "Silk hose with silk clocks up-side are the rage in hosiery. They will be worn with oxfords. Fibre silk socks in plain colors are good, especially in grey, blue and cordovans."

NECKWEAR

Frank Clark, manager of men's department at Bluem's: "Silk knitted ties in stripes and plain colors are going to prove the most popular for spring, with pure silk ties in mild colors. Black ties with satin stripes are the most fashionable for dress wear for spring."

SCORES FRANCE FOR SUFFRAGE ATTITUDE

PARIS.—On the occasion of its fiftieth anniversary the French League for the Rights of Women publishes a book called "Fifty Years of Feminism." It carries a prelude by ex-President Raymond Poincare in which the latter, addressing Madame Maria Verone, president of the league, says: "You know that I am for the rights of women. Is it not rather humiliating for France to see other countries gradually according women their rights of suffrage while here nothing has been done in the matter. The number of sheep in the United States has increased about four million in ten years. Altho the home of the canary, the Canary Islands derive their name from the large dogs rather than from their birds. Tattooing is rare in Central Africa, the color of the natives' skin not allowing the pattern to appear to advantage.

I HAVE GOT THEM ALL BUT ONE!

And He Has Too Much Rich Red Blood For Me

Says the Vampire of iron-starvation—don't let him get you—keep plenty of iron in your blood.

Look at the pale, thin, watery blooded creatures in this picture—see how they are struggling, trying to get away from the merciless vampire of iron-starvation which holds them tight by a stout, cruel cord they cannot see.

Their lack of BODILY AND MENTAL VIGOR; their inability to do a day's work without being all flustered about their lack of "heart"; LACK OF BRAIN POWER to think right and the WILL POWER to battle against obstacles, their frequent headaches, backaches, nervous irritability and the great devastating weakness brought on by lack of iron in the blood, tells them something is wrong BUT THEY DO NOT KNOW WHAT.

They all envy the strong, keen, red blooded man with plenty of iron in his blood, who, in spite of "hard times" or other obstacles has the "dominant force," "will power," physical and mental strength to enable him to GO OUT AND WIN AND BRING HOME THE "CASH" while they tug in vain to break the bonds that hold them fast.

If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron from three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Thousands of nervous, run-down men and women who were weak and ailing all the while, have surprisingly increased their strength and endurance in two weeks' time in many instances, by this simple experiment.

Over 4,000,000 people annually are using NUXATED IRON. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain satisfactory results. Beware of substitutes. Always insist on having genuine organic iron—NUXATED IRON. Look for the letters N. I. on every tablet. At all druggists.

Which Man in This Picture is YOU?

The strong, keen, red blooded, successful man who laughs at the vampire of iron-starvation or ARE YOU one of the poor unfortunate persons who have been caused by this merciless wrecker of human health—if the latter, NUXATED IRON will help set you free and make you a strong, healthy, robust, successful man.

SNAPPY STYLE IN SPRING SUITS

Designs Will Be More Conservative Dealers Declare

VIEWS ON ALL FURNISHINGS

Well Dressed Man May Get Many Ideas Here

More conservative styles and designs will predominate in spring suits and wearing apparel for men, young men and boys this spring and summer.

Such is the opinion expressed Saturday by Lima men who are in close touch with the clothing trade.

Buyers will find clothing from $5 to 20 per cent cheaper this spring than they did last, with the quality of the goods much better. Old fabrics are again available, after being missed from suits for several years on account of being used for the manufacture of war necessities.

Belted coats are a thing of the past, and with other "extras" are fast disappearing. Patch pockets seem to maintain their popularity, but the plain pocket with a flap will be the positive style.

Single and double breasted coats are both popular and will share honors for the dominant style.

SHIRTS PLAINER
Well-dressed men will welcome the advice that spring shirts are going to be plainer. Plain colors are being displayed, mostly in madras and linens. A white shirt with a low collar attached, made of plain handkerchief linen, is leading spring styles.

Brightly colored shirts, of any material, are out of style.

That's the general opinion of haberdashers.

Mothers will be delighted to find that boy's clothing is more neat this year, with prices cut in accordance with the drop noticeable in men's wear.

All of the youngsters' suits will be belted. Little wash suits are being displayed by clothiers, with French imported styles in two-piece and one-piece suits. Hats of tweed to match are being shown.

Here's what Lima's dealers say: MEN'S AND YOUNG MEN'S SUITS
Max Falk, assistant manager of Ellerman's clothing store:

"Prices on spring suits are going to be from 25 to 30 per cent lower than they were last year. The quality of suits is going to be much better, due chiefly to the fact that old fabrics are again on the market and are being used in the manufacture of men's suits."

"More conservative styles will predominate, that's sure. Both single and double breasted suits will be good. Plain colors, chiefly

By ALFRED

New York, March 5

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW defines a gentleman as one who puts into life more than he takes out of it. That definition also fits The Well-Dressed Man. He puts into the selection of his clothes thoughtful care. He takes out of them the silent approval that his inner self bestows upon his Outer Self. To be conspicuously well-dressed without being dressed conspicuously; to attract attention by seeming to avoid it; to shun that kind of "originality", which, overstepping the bounds, betrays the boundary—that is the secret of making the most of one's appearance.

The 3-button top coat, illustrated above, introduces those straighter, squarer body-lines which are prominent characteristics of this season's fashions. The front buttons are far apart, instead of being close together, as formerly. The side pockets and the change pocket are of the patch type.

Putting a pint-size hat upon a quart-size head is

tinuation of it. The purpose of this is to take up the slack of material around the waist and equalize the fullness caused by the bulge of side pockets. All trousers hang wide and straight. Well-dressed men never favored that preposterously spindle-shanked cut which made the wearer resemble an animated pair of scissors.

brown and blue, with pin checks and stripes, will predominate. "Belts and waist seams to coats are no good this spring. They are out of style completely. The style of coat pockets varies. Plain pockets with flaps and patch pockets seem to be the most popular. The plainer they are the better they take. All trousers will have cuffs this year. The rage last year of cuffless trousers has blown over."

BOYS' CLOTHING
O. G. Place, manager of boys' department at Michael's:

"Suits for boys this spring will be featured by 2-piece suits, with fancy, pleated, model coats. In woolen suits there will be a combination of colors, with waists and pants in imported French models."

"Hats to match will go with most every suit. They will be made of tweed cloth. Caps will also be worn to a big extent."

"All boys' suits will be belted, and the wearer of a smart spring top coat will be popular."

"Jersey middie and 1-piece suits for smaller boys will be worn to a big extent this spring."

MEN'S SHIRTS
Jim Jolley of Jolley-Chenoweth:

"Soft negligee shirts with collars attached are to be featured in spring styles. Many plain white madras shirts are to be worn with solid black ties. "Silk shirts will be worn to some extent, but not as extensively as they were last year. The colors are 'tamed,' and the patterns are more modest."

"The handkerchief linen shirt is going to be worn very extensively, far attached."

GLOVES AND HOSIERY
Carl Isham, advertising manager of Morris Bros:

"Silk gloves with plain patterns are going to be worn very extensively this spring. Grey gloves with a black back are proving popular here. There is no big change in design from last year."

"Silk hose with silk clocks up-side are the rage in hosiery. They will be worn with oxford. Fibre silk socks in plain colors are good, especially in grey, blue and cordovans."

NECKWEAR
Frank Clark, manager of men's department at Bluem's:

"Silk knitted ties in stripes and plain colors are going to prove the most popular for spring, with pure silk ties in mild colors. Black ties with satin stripes are the most fashionable for dress wear for spring."

SCORES FRANCE FOR SUFFRAGE ATTITUDE

PARIS—On the occasion of its fiftieth anniversary the French League for the Rights of Women publishes a book called "Fifty Years of Feminism." It carries a prelude by ex-President Raymond Poincaré in which the latter, addressing Madame Marie Verone, president of the league, says: "You know that I am for the rights of women. It is not rather humiliating for France to see other countries gradually according women their rights of suffrage while here nothing has been done in the matter."

The number of sheep in the United States has increased about four million in ten years.

CARTER & CARROLI

I HAVE GOT THEM ALL BUT ONE!

And He Has Too Much Rich Red Blood For Me

Says the Vampire of iron-starvation—don't let him get you—keep plenty of iron in your blood.

Look at the pale, thin, watery blooded creatures in this picture—see how they are struggling, trying to get away from the merciless vampire of iron-starvation which holds them tight by a stout, cruel cord they cannot see.

Their lack of ROBUST AND MENTAL VIGOR; their inability to do a day's work without being all fagged out; their bad luck; LACK OF BRAIN POWER to think right and the WILL POWER to battle against obstacles, their frequent headaches, backaches, nervous irritability and the great debilitating weakness brought on by lack of iron in the blood, tells them something is wrong BUT THEY DO NOT KNOW WHAT.

They all envy the strong, keen, red blooded man with plenty of iron in his blood, who, in spite of "hard times" or other obstacles has the "dominant force," "will power," physical and mental strength to enable him to GO OUT AND WIN AND BRING HOME THE "CASH" while the bug in him vainly breaks the bonds that hold them fast.

If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following tests: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Thousands of nervous, run-down men and women who were weak and ailing all the while, have surprisingly increased their strength and endurance in two weeks' time in many instances, by this simple experiment.

Over 4,000,000 people annually are using NUXATED IRON. It will not injure the teeth or disturb the stomach. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain satisfactory results. Beware of substitutes. Always insist on having genuine organic iron—NUXATED IRON. Look for the letters N. I. on every tablet. At all druggists.

Which Man in This Picture is YOU?

The strong, keen, red blooded, successful man who laughs at the vampire of iron-starvation or ARE YOU one of the poor unfortunate persons who have been caught by this merciless wrecker of human health—the latter, NUXATED IRON will help set you free and make you a strong, healthy, robust, successful man.

of the Blood Ruins the Health of Thousands

VIEWS ON ALL FURNISHINGS

Well Dressed Man May Get Many Ideas Here

More conservative styles and designs will predominate in spring suits and wearing apparel for men, young men and boys this spring and summer.

Such is the opinion expressed Saturday by Lima men who are in close touch with the clothing trade.

Buyers will find clothing from 25 to 30 per cent cheaper this spring than they did last, with the quality of the goods much better. Old fabrics are again available, after being missed from suits for several years on account of being used for the manufacture of war necessities.

Belted coats are a thing of the past, and with other "extras" are fast disappearing. Patch pockets seem to maintain their popularity, but the plain pocket with a flap will be the positive style.

Single and double breasted coats are both popular and will share honors for the dominant style.

SHIRTS FLAUNTER
Well-dressed men will welcome the advice that spring shirts are going to be plainer. Plain colors are being displayed, mostly in madras and linens. A white shirt with a low collar attached, made of plain handkerchief linen, is leading spring styles.

Brightly colored shirts, of any material, are out of style.

That's the general opinion of haberdashers.

Mothers will be delighted to find that boy's clothing is more neat this year, with prices cut in accordance with the drop noticeable in men's wear.

All of the youngster's suits will be belted. Little wash suits are being displayed by clothiers, with French imported styles in two-piece and one-piece suits. Hats of tweed to match are being shown.

Here's what Lima's dealers say:
MEN'S AND YOUNG MEN'S SUITS
Max Falk, assistant manager of Ellerman's clothing store:

"Prices on spring suits are going to be from 25 to 30 per cent lower than they were last year. The quality of suits is going to be much better, due chiefly to the fact that old fabrics are again on the market and are being used in the manufacture of men's suits.

"More conservative styles will predominate, that's sure. Both single and double breasted suits will be good. Plain colors, chiefly

The WELL-DRESSED MAN

Topcoats Hanging Around—The Pint-Size Hat—Spats On Their Last Legs?—The Eternal Raglan—Wider-Legged Trousers

By ALFRED STEPHEN BRYAN

New York, March 5

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW defines a gentleman as one who puts into life more than he takes out of it. That definition also fits The Well-

Dressed Man. He puts into the selection of his clothes thoughtful care. He takes out of them the silent approval that his inner self bestows upon his Outer Self. To be conspicuously well-dressed without being dressed conspicuously; to attract attention by seeming to avoid it; to shun that kind of "originality," which, overstepping the bounds, betrays the boundary —that is the secret of making the most of one's appearance.

The 3-button top coat, illustrated above, introduces those straighter, squarer body-lines which are prominent characteristics of this season's fashions. The front buttons are far apart, instead of being close together, as formerly. The side pocket is of the patch type.

Putting a pint-size hat upon a quart-size head is going to be a problem this season, when soft hats are small-crowned and sung-brimmed, as portrayed in the accompanying sketch. The color most to be met is brown in shades like seal, copper and mocha. However, the pearl-colored soft hat with a black ribbon is a well-established favorite and so too, is a shade called Naples green.

Who says that spats are on their last legs? Quite the contrary they are as spruce as ever. The gaiter, shown here, is box-cloth or canvas with 4 buttons.

The shoe shows
the new oval toe with a plain tip.

Raglan-sleeve coats never come into fashion, because they never go out of fashion. The garment, pictured below, exhibits the new form of back drapery—narrow at the top and graduating into considerable breadth at the bottom.

The lowering of the high waistline upon coats and the shortening or omission of the back vent are important changes in 1921 fashions.

Trousers are improved in fit and drape by short lengthwise pleats which are inserted above each centre crease and look like a continuation of it.

The purpose of this is to take up the slack of material around the waist and equalize the fullness caused by the bulge of side pockets.
All trousers hang wide and straight. Well-dressed men never favored that preposterously spindle-shanked cut which made the wearer resemble an animated pair of scissors.

brown and blue with pin checks and stripes, will predominate

"Belts and waist seams to coats are no good this spring. They are out of style completely. The style of coat pockets varies. Plain pockets with flaps and patch pockets seem to be the most popular. "The plainer they are the better they take."

"All trousers will have cuffs this year. The rage last year of cuffless trousers has blown over."

BOYS' CLOTHING
O. G. Place, manager of boys' department at Michae's

"Suits for boys this spring will be featured by 2-pant suits, with fancy, pleated, model coats. In woolen suits there will be a combination of colors, with waists and pants in imported French models.

"Hats to match will go with most every suit. They will be made of tweed cloth. Caps will also be worn to a big extent.

"All boys' suits will be belted, and the wearer of a smart spring top coat will be popular.

"Jersey middie and 1 piece suits for smaller boys worn to a big extent this spring."

MEN'S SHIRTS
Jim Jolley of Jolley-Chenoweth
"Soft negligee shirts with collars attached are to be featured in spring styles. Many plain white madras shirts are to be worn with solid black ties.

"Silk shirts will be worn to some extent, but not as extensively as they were last year. The colors are "faded," and the patterns are more modest.

"The handkerchief linen shirt is going to be worn very extensively with attached."

GLOVES AND HOSIERY
Carl Isham, advertising manager of Morris Bros.

"Silk gloves with plain patterns are going to be worn very extensively this spring. Grey gloves with a black back are proving popular here.
There is no big change in designs from last year.

"Silk hose with silk clocks upside are the rage in hosiery. They will be worn with oxfords. Fibre silk socks in plain colors are good, especially in grey, blue and cordovans."

NECKWEAR

Frank Clark, manager of men's department at Blue's.

"Silk knitted ties in stripes and plain colors are going to prove the most popular for spring, with pure silk ties in mild colors. Black ties with satin stripes are the most fashionable for dress wear for spring."

SCORES FRANCE FOR SUFFRAGE ATTITUDE

PARIS—On the occasion of its fiftieth anniversary the French League for the Rights of Women publishes a book called "Fifty Years of Feminism." It carries a prelude by ex-President Raymond Poincare in which the latter, addressing Madame Marie Verone, president of the league, says:
"You know that I am for the rights of women. Is it not rather humiliating for France to see other countries gradually according women their rights of suffrage while here nothing has been done in the matter."

The number of sheep in the United States has increased about four million in ten years.

Altho the home of the canary, the Canary Islands derive their name from the large dogs rather than from their birds.

Tattooing is rare in Central Africa, the color of the natives' skin not allowing the pattern to appear to advantage.
